

Bo Derek designated special US envoy for wildlife trafficking

WASHINGTON, April 21, 2006 (AFP) - The iconic US actress Bo Derek on Friday was appointed as special envoy of the Secretary of State for Wildlife Trafficking Issues.

Derek, best-known for her role in the 1979 feature film "10", appeared at a ceremony at the US State Department and said she was honored to accept such a "daunting" role and to do her part to help save the environment.

"I know my participation in this is going to be small compared to people actively working in the field, but I might be able to help with public awareness," said Derek, dressed in a black pant suit and white shirt.

She said she will be working with a coalition that is trying to stop the illegal trafficking of wildlife, a soaring market worth 10 billion dollars a year.

"The Coalition Against Wildlife Trafficking (CAWT) will help educate people around the world that their quality of life is diminished, not improved, by purchasing endangered and threatened wildlife products," the 49-year-old actress, a staunch Republican, said.

CAWT is a global coalition the US government is seeking to build to focus public and political attention on the problem of wildlife trafficking.

Among the organizations that have joined this coalition are WildAid, Save the Tiger Fund and the Smithsonian Institution.

Bollywood actresses in "obscenity" charges

NEW DELHI, April 21, 2006 (AFP) - An Indian court Friday ordered the arrests of two Bollywood actresses following complaints they had posed in "obscene" photographs which were published in a newspaper, officials said.

The court issued the arrest warrants after actresses Shilpa Shetty and Reema Sen did not turn up in a court in southern Madurai city in response to earlier summons, the Press Trust of India (PTI) reported.

A local lawyer had alleged that the regional Tamil language daily, the Tamil Murasu, had published "very sexy blow-ups" of the Bollywood sirens in its issues in December and January.

Lawyer T. Dhakshinamoorthy said in his court petition that the pictures violated the Indecent Representation of Women Act, and were misleading the youth.

An arrest warrant was also issued for the paper's editor R.N. Murugan, the news agency reported.
